Subject: Lithium Results

Rich and Rich,

To report the lithium results this is the proposal for your consideration:

- Preliminary results will be included on a new table for all samples collected Jan/Feb (just like the current preliminary report format). This will be sent tomorrow.
- Final results will be submitted using our supplemental report format (memo with attached table). All QC information will be included in the case files with the raw data. This will be sent out next week.
- Generate an EDD just for new lithium results only.

We don't have the ability to generate a separate report in our normal format with our data system (at least not that we know of) and we prefer to not create a revision to the original report. However, if you really need a revised report in the original format we'll try to present it so that it is not confusing (one parameter run separately from other metals, etc.).

Let us know if you are okay with the above proposal.

Thanks
Cindy
